

Ross-on-Wye Walking Group – Data Protection Agreement (updated March 2018)

On May 25 2018 the UK Data Protection Act is replaced by the EU General Data Protection Regulations. As a consequence, the RWG committee has produced this agreement and, in order to be compliant with the new Regulations, we require members to give their express permission to the terms by signing below or indicating otherwise.

The data we hold is that which members have supplied, usually name, postal address, landline, mobile and email address. This data is held securely on the RWG database, which is only accessible to nominated members of the committee, the email distributors and the webmaster. This data is only used for communication of information on walks, social events and other activities within the Group. We do not share this data with any third parties.

Members take photographs during walks and some are posted on the RWG website. If any members don't wish to feature, they should advise the photographers on the day. If they appear in error on the website, this will be corrected by the webmaster as soon as possible after advice.

The space below is for members to indicate any changes to the data previously advised; for members to ask for their details to be erased if they are leaving the Group; or for any other pertinent comments or questions.

If you are happy with these terms, please sign here and give or post your form to:
